Serial No.

3) The Municipal Council of Bangalore applies for the surplus revenue of the Civil Station, pointing out Eight purposes for which it can be devoted (among them not specified) and declaring that the pecuniary aid received from the State hitherto has not been adequate

4) Whether adequate or not, it is sufficiently obvious that Rs 1 lakh aid has been given in the past and to it is due [illegible] all the improvement effected since 1898 or so.

5) As regards the surplus, Bangalore City has some right to make a representation, territorially considered. Its requirements may be considered in framing a scheme for the disposal of the surplus there are so many objects of useful & even necessary heads of expenditure that it is difficult to determine how best the surplus may be utilized. But, in any scheme of distribution that may be conceived, the cause of local self-government, now hampered a great deal by scarcity of funds, merits favourable consideration, as it recently received in a very liberal manner from the hands of the Govt. of India & of local Govts in British India.

Sir,

In continuation of my letter No. 251 of 5-4-1913 conveying the resolution of the City Municipal Council, Bangalore, on the subject of constituting a Committee of Citizens and Officials for formulating a scheme of Improvement for the City of Bangalore, I have the honor to submit a copy of the Resolution of the Council arrived at in connection with the discussion of the Municipal Budget at their meeting held on the 5th instant.

2. The Council are unanimously of opinion that the surplus of the Civil and Military Station revenues, now being handed to the Durbar, should be devoted to the carrying out of the much needed improvements of the City, among which may be mentioned an effective drainage and sewerage system, the widening of the principal[2] thoroughfares, the opening of diagonal[3] roads, the laying out of parks[4] and open grounds in the heart of the City, the construction of a general[5] market, an Octroi[6] Koti, and a Municipal[7] Office, public[8] baths etc.

3 This does not exhaust the requirements of this growing City which I am to add has not received the pecuniary aid for its development commensurate with the position which it occupies as the chief town in the State and the centre of the railway
